"A road and a hill ... for paradise" indicated by Eric Hecker Exclusive mailboxes for a unique neighborhood. (Credit: Eric Hecker) Yeah. A road, a hill. This is my special slice of paradise known as Sausalito, CA. There's a road that passes all over the city and takes the hill to the Golden Gate Bridge. In addition to the sights, the incredible mist that rolls all up and sunset is a sight. Vibration in this small town is incredible. It is independent knows the tourist, if you prefer, and both groups coincide in harmony. My only advice: come visit. Sea view of Sausalito. (Credit: Eric Hecker) Stories about Sausalito People are what makes this city what it is. The most recent example is the fires that devastated northern California last September. The fires were only 48 kilometers north in Sonoma County. Many residents opened our doors to fire victims without the slightest hesitation, and I know at least 10 friends who took friends and even strangers who were made by the fires. There were fundraisers and food in a few hours after the fires began. That was great.
